

Nixon Williams Case Study

Ryder Analysis Services Ltd.

An accountant should be more than just a number cruncher. They should be a partner, a confidante, and a guide. At Nixon Williams we never forget that running your own business can be lonely, and so our aim is to work with our clients as a trusted advisor, always on hand to help you manage the financial side of your limited company as effortlessly as possible. And our clients tell us that we're doing a great job of meeting those aims!

Name: Tom Ryder      Role: Business Analyst/Solution Designer
Time contracting: 3 years      Location: UK wide

What we do

Tom started contracting three years ago and chose Nixon Williams as his accountancy firm after a recommendation from a trusted colleague - who gave specific examples of the ways in which we had supported him. Tom particularly liked the fact that we are easy to work with, as he explains. "An easy set-up was definitely attractive, as was the ability to deal with Nixon Williams online - but for me, the most important aspect of the entire service is the fact that I have a dedicated point of contact."

"When it comes to setting up your own limited company, the one piece of advice I always give to people is to take the time to get good advice. It's vital to understand the world you are entering and to prepare accordingly, and part of that is the need for a good accountant, like Nixon Williams!"

Benefits for contractors

As Tom has already mentioned, having a single point of contact who knows your business inside out is a huge part of what makes working with us so appealing, he continues. "I've dealt with the same accountant at Nixon Williams since I first started contracting, and I would say that my relationship with them is outstanding. I know I can trust them to do what they say they will, and they know my business well enough to give great advice.”

“Having a good accountant takes away as much of the work of running a limited company as possible. That’s partly as a result of what they do but also, when it comes to my responsibilities, they provide me with the tools and advice to make it as simple as possible.”

Why choose to go contracting?

Tom was very specific about his reasons for choosing the contracting lifestyle, and it’s clear that this way of life is far more appealing to him than being employed. “I wanted to opt out of the more negative aspects of being an employee. By making the relationship a business to business one, it became a simple question of delivery and satisfaction, which was much more to my liking. I love the freedom to pick and choose projects and moving on once the job is done.”

“The most daunting aspect of getting started was the set up process, but after being referred to Nixon Williams that quickly ceased to be an issue, as they were able to advise and assist with every aspect of this.

In my time with Nixon Williams I have never yet been disappointed, and I have lost count of the number of people I have referred their way. I’ve also never heard any grumbles from the people I’ve recommended them to, which is a stark contrast to contractors using other firms!”
